

Construction Contracts

Presented by Adam Strachan, CBCL

Join us on May 7th for the last O&E luncheon before Summer as we look at contract tendering. Adam's presentation will include a brief review of the most prominent types of construction contracts and construction delivery methods. He will discuss the principles behind the declaration of substantial performance and look at sample clauses of demonstration and training of building maintenance staff by the General Contractor. In addition he will explain the interface between the end of a construction contract and the beginning of a maintenance contract, including analysis of typical warranty period clauses.

Date: May 7, 2019
